

Battle of Monmouth

JUNE 28, 1778 - 4:00 A.M. TO 1:30 P.M.

Timeline

- 4 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
- 4:10:00 a.m. - Leaving its camps, the 20,000-man British army under Sir Henry Clinton marches north. Charles Cornwallis commands the 1,600-man rear guard.
 - 10 a.m. - American 4,500-man vanguard under Charles Lee reaches Amboy Road.
 - 10:10:30 a.m. - Lee sends Anthony Wayne to the enemy right while the remainder of vanguard moves against their left.
 - 10:30 a.m. - The British rear guard halts and opens fire. Fighting erupts.
 - 10:45 a.m. - Learning of the American threat, Clinton rides back and orders half of the British army to follow.
 - 11:25 a.m. - Outmanned, Lee orders a retreat. Clinton orders a pursuit.
 - 11:35-1:00 p.m. - George Washington arrives with 11,000-man main body, meets with Lee, then organizes the troops on Perrine's Hill.
 - 1:10-1:30 p.m. - Fighting delaying actions at the Point of Woods and the hedgerow, Wayne is routed and forced back.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S MOUNT VERNON

Rick Britton